Dear participants, organizers and guests!

On behalf of the Eurasian People's Assembly I sincerely greet and congratulate you on the opening of one of the largest events of the Ninth World Congress on Psychotherapy – Pre-Congress "Psychotherapy in Support of People, Families, Communities and Society During the Coronavirus Pandemic".

Consequences of coronavirus pandemic affect many spheres of life, especially psychological state of people, family relationships, well-being of children and elderly. In this situation it is vital for world's leaders in psychotherapy and psychology to unite efforts in order to search for the most effective methods and tools for people's adaptation during the pandemic and afterwards.

The Council on Preserving and Development of Kin Culture under the Eurasian People's Assembly works on studies based on Rodology – a science on kin system's development principles and rodological method of consulting. We are assured that participation of experts of the Council in the Congress and section "Influence of Kin History and Transgenerational Relations on Descendants in the COVID-19 Pandemic Situation" will contribute to solving important issues, expansion of international expertise and humanitarian connections.

It is important for us that international congresses and forums contribute not only to the implementation of advanced technologies, strengthening of professional and scientific contacts, but also help to create kind, honest and trustful interpersonal relationships among those who support psychological health of people.
